THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Domestic Recipes.

CALLIE'S DOUGHNUTS.—One quart of flour, one teacupful sugar, one teaspoonful cream tartar, three-fourths teaspoonful soda dissolved in a teacupful sour milk, one and one-half teaspoonfuls salt, two eggs; add a little sweet milk, cinnamon for spice.

MEAT PIE.—CRUST.—One quart of flour; rub through it two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, a piece of butter the size of a large egg, or of lard, well beaten first, and a teaspoonful at least of salt. Dissolve one teaspoonful of soda in one cup of milk or water, and mix with the flour, adding enough more to make the crust stiff enough to roll. Roll it half an inch thick, and use no bottom crust. Take bits of bone, gristle, and pieces of meat which are not nice for the pie; cover them with cold water, simmer gently for a long time, strain off the gravy so made, thicken it with a small piece of butter and a tablespoonful of flour, previously rubbed together. If you have plenty of gravy, save a part of it to serve in a tureen. Cut the cold meat into small square pieces, lay it in a baking dish (without an inner crust), add tiny bits of butter, pepper and salt, sprinkle a little bit of flour over the top, add a cupful of gravy or hot water. Then cover with crust; bake about three-quarters of an hour. A little onion, finely minced, is an improvement; or a few spoonfuls of canned tomatoes. The crust makes good biscuits.

BREAKFAST CAKES.—Eight cups flour, one-half cup butter, three-fourths cup sugar, one quart milk, two desertspoonfuls soda, three heaping ones of cream tartar, two eggs, one teaspoonful salt. Bake in muffin rings or patty pans in the oven fifteen to twenty minutes.

HAM AND EGGS.—Chop finely some cold boiled ham, fat and lean together, say a pound to four eggs; put a piece of butter in the pan, then the ham; let it get well warmed through, then beat the eggs light; stir them in briskly.

LEMONS.—Lemons will keep good for months if sliced when sound and packed in glass jars with a thick layer of white sugar between the slices.

FRENCH LOAF CAKE.—Two cups of white sugar, one scant cup of butter, one cup of sweet milk, three heaping cups of flour, three eggs, two teaspoonfuls cream tartar, one teaspoonful soda. Put sugar, butter, eggs (not previously beaten), soda, and cream tartar all together, beat to a froth; add the milk, beating well; flavor with lemon extract; add the flour gradually, pour into a cake tin, lined with buttered paper, sprinkle a little powdered sugar over the cake before baking. It is well to cover it when first putting in the oven, in order not to harden the top too soon. This is very nice, and quickly made.

What a Cheesemaker Says.

A cheesemaker in the Utica Herald says: I will occupy your attention with a little plain talk on the subject of the best means of enchancing the value of the milk you send to the cheese factory. It is very important to you whether the milk you send is manufactured into inferior, middling or superior cheese. That you can by proper feeding, care and cleanliness remove the obstacles that operate to prevent the production of an article that will more nearly approach or rivel the finest English cheese there is no doubt. The fine cheese of England are made from milk which has been produced from healthy cows, fed on good herbage, the milk having been properly cared for in every way with the most scrupulous cleanliness. But here in America, under the factory system, care and cleanliness about milk is a lost art, or rather an art that has never been acquired by many cheese factory patrons. I know some of you would reply: The cheese maker ought to see to all these things. I answer the thing is impossible. Can he inspect your milking pails, milk cans and milker's hands? Or can he see that you send no green or garget-ted milk to the factory? Or see whether your cows were hurried home with a dog, blown and sweltering with heat Or can he see how many cows were left unmilked over night and their half putrid messes sent to the factory in the morning to operate like yeast in the well kept milk of careful patrons? Or can the cheese maker prevent you from detaining the milk at home after milking is finished, or lingering to gossip on the way, and then racing to the factory with the hot milk closed up in the can advancing rapidly toward putrefaction. These are causes that the cheese maker can not control, and it is these that baffle the skill and frustrate the efforts of the most competent cheese maker. These are the greatest causes of inferior cheese.

But beside these the maker has a continual war to wage against slovenliness. He may provide patrons with strainers and aerators, but he cannot make them use them. In our factory strainer are found leaves, hairs, seeds, feathers, scabs, clots of blood, cow manure, fowl manure, flies, bugs, beetles, spiders, worms, snails and lizards, which speak volumes about the care and cleanliness of these factory patrons. It surpasses belief to think of the ignorance and carelessness manifested by patrons about this their most valuable product. It is evident that they only have one concern about their milk, viz.: that it should weigh well. They think that the cheesemaker should accomplish whatever else is needful to make fine cheese. They place their evening's milk in their cans, bestowing little or no care on it, entirely oblivious of the fact that five or ten per cent. of rainwater in their milk is a sly way of filching a few cents out of their honest fellow patrons' pockets.

To return to the point of mixing the morning and evening mess before bringing it to the factory. I tell you that it is a very pernicious practice and one that gives a large amount of trouble to cheesemakers. In the early fall even some patrons who have been allowed to draw once a day are sure to attempt this, and others seeing it soon follow the bad example. Now nothing so annoys a good cheesemaker as such ill-considered and pernicious conduct. The cheesemaker is deprived thereby, in some degree, of his power to discover fraud and the working of curd is rendered very uncertain at a season when all should go on well and with uniform success.

In the course of the examination Mr. C. P. Hints on Sickness.

The following short hints concerning the proper treatment of the sick are invaluable:

Don't whisper in the sick-room.

When the doctor comes to see you, remember how many pairs of stairs he has to climb every day, and go down to him if you are well enough.

When you are sitting up at night with a patient, be sure to have something to eat, if you wish to save yourself unnecessary exhaustion.

Remember that sick people are not necessarily idiotic or imbecile, and that it is not always wise to try to persuade them that their sufferings are imaginary. They may even at times know best what they need.

Never deceive a dying person unless by the doctor's express orders. It is not only wrong to allow any soul to go into eternity without preparation; but how can you tell but that he has something he ought to tell or do before he goes away.

If you have a sick friend to whom you wish to be of use, do not content yourself with sending her flowers and jelly; but lend her one of your pictures to hang in place of hers, or a bronze to replace the one at which she is so tired of staring.

Don't have needless conversations with the doctor outside of the sick-room. Nothing will excite and irritate a nervous patient sooner. If you do have such a conversation, don't tell the patient that the doctor said "nothing." He won't believe you; and he will imagine the worst possible.

In lifting the sick, do not take them by the shoulders and drag them up on the pillows, but get some one to help you. Let one stand on one side of the patient, the other opposite; then join hands under the shoulders and hips, and lift them steadily and promptly together. This method is easy for those who lift, and does not disturb the one who is lifted.

Do not imagine that your duty is over when you have nursed your patient through his illness, and he is about the house, or perhaps going out again. Strength does not come back in a moment, and the days when little things worry and little effort exhaust—when the cares of business begin to press, but the feeble brain and hand refuse to think and execute—are the most trying to the sick one, and then comes the need for your tenderest care, your most unobtrusive watchfulness.

Anecdote of Washington.

In the midst of the gravest operations, and burdened with a thousand cares and anxieties, Washington never forgot the minutest details; he was as mindful of little things as big. At the battle of Monmouth, when the commander-in-chief was riding up from the Freehold meeting house, where he had been directing important movements, he met the main portion of the Patriot army retreating in wild confusion before the pursuing British. With stern indignation and withering reproof he called the chief officers to a sense of their duty, and then, by almost superhuman efforts, in the face of a galling fire from the enemy, he rallied his stampeding forces.

Fearlessly, as though he were conscious of a charmed life, he rode in the very thickest of the iron storm, laying his plans, and giving his orders. The army of brave, true patriots, which, half an hour before, had seemed on the verge of destruction, panic stricken and without order, was now drawn up in steady, unflinching array of battle, prepared to meet the advancing foe.

It was at this time, while plunging through the "leaden rain and iron hail," that Washington's horse was shot under him. The chief coolly stepped from the prostrate charger, and having received from the hands of an attendant orderly a fresh horse, ready caparisoned, he turned to the body servant who followed him close through all dangers, and without the presence of whose ebon visage a picture of "Washington and his Family" would not be complete, and quietly said:

"Here, Billy, take the saddle from that dead horse, and look out for it." And then he dashed away to direct the planting of Oswald's battery.

"Golly!" exclaimed old Billy, as he related the incident to one of the family on his return home, "who ebber did see such a man as Mas'r Washington? Who'd ebber 'a thought ob dat saddle but him? I tell ye mas'r remembers eberyt'ing—eb'rything down to de berry littlest!"

Where Does it All Come From?

Pints and quarts of filthy catarrhal discharges. Where does it all come from? The mucous membrane which lines the chambers of the nose, and its little glands, are diseased, so that they draw from the blood its liquid, and exposure to the air changes it into corruption. This life liquid is needed to build up the system, but it is extracted, and the system is weakened by the loss. To cure, gain flesh and strength by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which also acts directly upon the glands, correcting them, and apply Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, the only method of reaching the upper cavities, where the discharge accumulates and comes from. The instrument and both medicines sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Dr. SCHENCK'S STANDARD REMEDIES.

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and, if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off; the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition so that the food and the Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck, either personally or by letter, can do so at his principal office, corner of Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday.

Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists throughout the country.

Special Notice to Our Readers! SPECIAL CALL! AGENTS WANTED To sell the New Patent Improved EYE CUPS. Guaranteed to be the best paying business offered to Agents by any House. An easy and pleasant employment.

The value of the celebrated new Patent Improved Eye Cups for the restoration of sight breaks out and blazes in the evidences of over 6,000 genuine testimonials of cures, and recommended by more than 1,000 of our best physicians in their practice. The Patent Eye Cups are a scientific and physiological discovery, and as ALEX. R. WYETH, M. D., and WM. BEATLEY, M. D., write, they are certainly the greatest invention of the age. Read the following certificates:

FERGUSON STATION, Logan Co., Ky., June 6th, 1872.

DR. J. BALL & Co., Oculists; Gentlemen—Your Patent Eye Cups are, in my judgment, the most splendid triumph which optical science has ever achieved, but, like all great and important truths, in this or in any other branch of science and philosophy, have much to contend with from the ignorance and prejudice of a too skeptical public; but truth is mighty, and it will prevail, and it is only a question of time as regards their general acceptance and indorsement by all. I have in my hands certificates of persons testifying in unequivocal terms to their merits. The most prominent physicians of my county recommend your Eye Cups. I am, respectfully, J. A. L. BOYER.

WILLIAM BEATLEY, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions. My sight is fully restored by the use of your Patent Eye Cups, after being almost entirely blind for twenty-six years."

ALEX. R. WYETH, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: "After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis to the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your Patent Eye Cups restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

REV. S. B. FALKINSBURG, Minister of M. E. Church, writes: "Your Patent Eye Cups have restored my sight, for which I am most thankful to the Father of Mercies. By your advertisement I saw at a glance that your invaluable Eye Cups performed their work perfectly in accordance with physiological law; that they literally fed the eyes that were starving for nutrition. May God greatly bless you, and may your name be enshrined in the affectionate memories of multiplied thousands as one of the benefactors of your kind."

HORACE B. DURANT, M. D., says: "I sold, and effected future sales liberally. The Patent Eye Cups, they will make money, and make it fast, too; no small, catch-penny affair, but a superb, number one, tip-top business, promises, as far as I can see, to be life-long."

Mayor E. C. ELLIS wrote us, November 16th, 1869: "I have tested the Patent Ivory Eye Cups, and I am satisfied they are good, I am pleased with them. They are certainly the greatest invention of the age."

Hon. HORACE GREELEY, late editor of the New York Tribune, wrote: "DR. J. BALL, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man, who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. MERRICK writes: "Truly, I am grateful to your noble invention. My sight is restored by your Patent Eye Cups. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years. I am seventy-one years old. I do all my writing without glasses, and I bless the inventor of the Patent Eye Cups every time I take up my old steel pen."

ADOLPH BIORNBERG, M. D., physician to Emperor Napoleon, wrote, after having his sight restored by our Patent Eye Cups: "With gratitude to God, and thankfulness to the inventors, DR. J. BALL & Co., I hereby recommend the trial of the Eye Cups (in full faith) to all and every one that has any impaired eyesight, believing as I do, that since the experiment with this wonderful discovery has proved successful on me, at my advanced period of life—ninety years of age—I believe they will restore the vision to any individual if they are properly applied. ADOLPH BIORNBERG, M. D."

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Essex, ss.

June 5th, 1873, personally appeared Adolph Biornberg, made oath to the following certificate, and by him subscribed and sworn before me. WM. STEVENS, J. P.

LAWRENCE CITY, Mass., June 9th, 1873.

We, the undersigned, having personally known Dr. Adolph Biornberg for years, believe him to be an honest, moral man, trustworthy, and in truth and veracity unspotted. His character is without reproach. M. BONNEY, Ex-Mayor, S. B. W. DAVIS, Ex-Mayor, GEORGE S. MERRILL, P. M., ROBERT H. TEWKSBURY, City Treas.

Reader, these are a few certificates out of thousands we receive, and to the aged we will guarantee your old and diseased eyes can be made new; your impaired sight, dimness of vision, and overworked eyes can be restored; weak, watery and sore eyes cured; the blind may see; spectacles be discarded; sight restored and vision preserved. Spectacles and surgical operations useless.

Please send your address to us, and we will send you our book, A GEM WORTH READING!
